ARTIST STATEMENT

From NYC to the wilds of the Essex countryside, now residing in London, the desire to create art has always been a huge influence in my life no matter where I've lived.

Through my work, I bring to life the faces that I draw, whether they be fictional or real.

My ability to capture the beauty and emotion of the human face is my strength. This is where I am able to express my creativity fully, and work towards more daring pieces.

I want to enable others to be inspired and inquisitive as the nature of human emotions shown in my work and initiate a talking point.
